

WINE ENTHUSIAST[®]

MAGAZINE

DECEMBER 31, 2009

Atlas Peak 2005 Cabernet Sauvignon Howell Mountain

95 POINTS

“Big, firm tannins mark this wine. They’re not clunky and hard, though, but refined and smooth, providing a rich structure to the massively concentrated blackberries, blueberries, cherries and sweet, smoky oak. Very fine and classic, drinking well now, with decanting, and through the next 6 - 8 years.”

- Steve Heimoff

