"Lovely aromas of fresh red raspberry, peonies, and toasted pralines rise from the glass of the Duboeuf's appropriately flower-labeled 2006 Julienas. On the palate, suggestions of black tea and honey join the berries, nuts, and flowers, and an undertone of peat moss. There is a certain greenness about this wine -- not as in under-ripeness, but rather as in stepping into a greenhouse -- that is very refreshing."
